We (IIC) need to collect some personal information, including from the Organisation, Institution or University registering their staff, students, researchers or members, attending the Congress online or in-person in order to process registrations and provide access to the Congress platform. This includes name, role and contact email address for individuals, and any special accessibility requirements that we are told about. We will only use this personal data to contact the individual about the Congress and IIC programmes and events, to do this we will need to share this information, including your name and contact details, with the local organising committee in Wellington, in order to facilitate the individual's attendance to the Congress online or in-person.

A delegate list of all registered in-person attendees including names and contact registration emails will be shared at the event in Wellington. If you do not want your name or contact email on the delegate list please contact the IIC Office, iic@iiconservation.org to notify us of the request by 31 August.

You can find out more about how we manage personal data and about your rights in IIC's Privacy notice found in the website footer or here

All policies and general conditions for registration are available as digital downloads at the bottom of this web page.
