

Science for Conservators - book 1, chapter 3

Chapter 3

Molecules and chemical equations

Different ways of thinking about and drawing molecules are introduced here. These help with understanding how molecules interact, and how that reaction can be described by a chemical equation that will also aid understanding of the whole process. Examples are given, and at the end are some exercises to test the reader's understanding.

Back to main chapters