

News in Conservation, Issue 105, December-January 2025

"I have been putting together this end-of-year/new year issue of NiC which does compel me to communicate with wonderful colleagues from around the world who generously share their stories of triumph and struggle with me for the magazine. And each article, image, translation, review, signed form and edit review I receive are, to me, a small miracle. How grateful I am for all the strangers who have become inspiring colleagues and friends through "News in Conservation". Thank you for brightening my life and the IIC community. Keep sharing your stories with us. It does more good than you know."
