Faculty Recruitment: UCLA/Getty Conservation Program Open Rank Faculty Position (Program Chair)

The UCLA/Getty Interdepartmental Program in the Conservation of Cultural Heritage invites applications for an open rank tenure-track professor to start as early as July 1, 2025. The successful candidate will have experience in teaching, a strong publication record, a robust research agenda, and a vision for the future of the field. They will likely become the next Program Chair. Strong candidates will have a demonstrable record of work within the Program's core values of collaboration, sustainability, and diversity, equity, & inclusion. Duties include teaching at the graduate and undergraduate level, research, service, and supervision of student research in both the Conservation IDP and the home department.

Requirements: Candidates should hold a Master's degree in the conservation of cultural heritage. A Ph.D. in the conservation of cultural heritage or another closely allied discipline is preferred, but not required.

The appointment will be split 50:50 between the UCLA/Getty Conservation IDP and an appropriate home department depending on area of specialization. For instance, current faculty are located in Art History, Anthropology, Information Studies, and Materials Science & Engineering.

Job post: <https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF09741>

Applications are due February 14, 2025.

Salary range: The posted UC salary scales set the minimum pay determined by rank and/or step at appointment. The salary range for this position is $78,200 - $205,400. "Off-scale salaries" and other components of pay, i.e., a salary that is higher than the published system-wide salary at the designated rank and step, are offered when necessary to meet competitive conditions. See campus compensation page for additional information.

Please circulate to cultural heritage conservation lists, and share with individuals who may be interested.
